City offers alarm monitoring service via 9-1-1 Call Center

Cedar Hill's 9-1-1 Dispatch Center offers home and business alarm monitoring. The Center uses emergency dispatchers to provide the quickest alarm response available for both fire and intrusion alarms.

Connecting your system directly to the City monitoring system saves critical time by reporting your alarm directly to the appropriate 9-1-1 emergency dispatcher.

Traditional alarm companies require an extra step, which consumes valuable time. After receiving your alarm signal, they must call the local 9-1-1 center serving your area and verbally pass the information on to the dispatcher, who in turn dispatches the appropriate police, fire or medical unit to your home.

More information, and a list of alarm system professionals is available at www.swrcc.net/alarm or call 972.223.6111. Or call Tim Smith, Dispatch Center Director, at 972.230.5053.

Free wi-fi
Wireless internet connection is available at the Zula B. Wylie Library and at the Cedar Hill Recreation Center.

'Waste Watch' extra eyes in our neighborhoods

Waste Management has partnered with the City of Cedar Hill to start a neighborhood safety program called Waste Watch®. Waste Management provides special training for drivers to spot and report anything suspicious or dangerous to their dispatcher or directly to 9-1-1.

The Waste Watch® program enhances safety by giving emergency response agencies the benefit of extra eyes and ears in the community every day.

Because drivers are working at times when neighborhood and business crimes often occur, they are in an ideal position to spot and report these situations. They will report such events as vehicle crashes, fires, road hazards and suspicious activities.

Waste Management drivers in other communities have reported accidents, fires, suspected criminal activity and unusual situations before they ordinarily would have been detected.
