Fight the bite, help stop WNV

At the end of August, Dallas County health officials were optimistic that this year's West Nile Virus season will be substantially better than last year.

In 2012 Dallas County led Texas with 371 cases of West Nile Virus. As of mid-August, there have been only 4 cases this year.

Authorities credit several factors. More effective communication about WNV by Dallas County and city officials has increased awareness of how to avoid being bitten and mosquito abatement programs have been more aggressive, with spraying starting with the first positive tests from mosquito collection traps.

Most WNV infections occur between June and September, so officials warn residents to continue taking measures to control mosquito populations and avoid getting bitten using the 4D defense plan.

Drain

Remove breeding sites on your property. Drain standing water, cover trash containers so they won't hold water, change birdbaths, pet dishes and wading pools at least weekly, check boat tarps and grill covers for trapped water.

Dress

Wear long-sleeve, loose and lightly-colored clothing when outside.

DEET

Use repellents with DEET or other FDA approved repellents and follow instructions.

Dusk to dawn

Be aware that mosquitoes are most active from just before sunset until just after sunrise.

Nextdoor

Safer, local social media

Nextdoor is the private social network for your and your neighborhood. It helps neighbors keep in touch.

Each member of your neighborhood's website must verify their address to join so you can trust who you are sharing with. And you control how much information you share.

Many Cedar Hill neighborhoods are already using Nextdoor's secure online tool to get the word out about meetings, watch groups, finding trustworthy service providers and more. Some neighborhoods are approaching 90% participation.

Sgt. Victor Vasquez with the Cedar Hill Police Department said PACT neighborhood officers are providing crime prevention tips to neighborhoods via Nextdoor.

Check it out at Nextdoor.com. Your neighbors may already be there.

Government Technology, a journal for state and local government solutions recently reviewed Nextdoor.com. Nextdoor is a private social network designed to let neighbors connect and restore a sense of community to neighborhoods. Nextdoor provides an online place for community interaction about useful information.

This isn't another social network for photo sharing or posting updates about vacation plans. Instead it aims to be an online hub for spreading the word about a break-in, organizing a garage sale or getting recommendations about local businesses.

Nextdoor limits the number of potential users in each network to a neighborhood's boundaries, so that a user can connect with his or her neighbors — and only with his or her neighbors.

This social media site verifies that the people connecting through it really are neighbors. The address of each user is confirmed to build confidence among users that they are creating connections within their community.

And local governments can get in on the action. Government representatives, like city managers and police officers, can use Nextdoor to connect with users and post information for them.

However, they can't see the rest of the conversation, including profile pages or the member directory. "They can simply broadcast into the neighborhood," Leary said. Then it's up to the users if they wish to contact the government representative for more information or to comment on the post.

New Director Tammy Miller

Cares about our furry friends

Tammy Miller has joined the Tri-City Animal Shelter as Director. She is responsible for further connecting the shelter with the Cedar Hill, Desoto, and Duncanville communities. She replaces Alissa Prelis, who had been with the shelter since 2005 and is leaving due to her family's relocation.

"This is such a unique and rewarding opportunity to work with three different cities," said Miller. "Having the collaboration of these three cities makes it less stressful when someone is looking for a lost pet."

Tammy plans to increase off site adoptions and work with larger retailers to help achieve the animal shelter's goals. She hopes to expand the program of volunteers who foster sick animals and nurse them to good health so they can be adopted.

Active in animal welfare for more than two decades, Tammy first volunteered and then worked at the Humane Society of North Texas (HSNT). While working with the Humane Society of the United States (HSUS) Tammy assisted in response to hurricanes Katrina and Rita. She managed the largest animal care facility in Arkansas called Project Barkansas, a temporary animal care program during a large scale investigation.

Miller has matched sheltered animals with celebrities Jamie Lee Curtis, George Robert Phillips McFarland (Spanky from the Little Rascals), Chris Cagle and a few others. Her passion for animal welfare has helped many others find that special companion.

The Tri-City Animal Shelter is located at 1150 E. Pleasant Run. It is open Monday - Friday from 10 am to 6 pm and on Saturdays from 10 am to 2 pm. The shelter number is 972.291.5335. Cedar Hill Animal Control can be reached at 972.223.6111.

Partnerships provide custom home for wounded veteran

City Manager Alan Sims (center, blue shirt) joined the ground-breaking crew with state and other local elected officials and partners in the Operation FINALLY HOME project in Lake Ridge. City Council members Jami McCain and Steve Mason also attended.

An American hero will get a fresh start thanks to several local organizations teaming up to build him a new mortgage-free custom home. Operation FINALLY HOME (OFH), the Former NFL Players Assn., the Dallas Builders Assn., South Star Communities and Victory Custom homes broke ground recently on the home located in the Cedar Hill and Grand Prairie community of Lake Ridge.

"This represents a 21st century barn raising," said Dan Vargas, Executive Director of Operation FINALLY HOME. The organization builds homes for severely wounded veterans who are 90-100% disabled but want to get their life back on track. They have built more than 40 homes for veterans in Texas. The name of the veteran receiving this home will be announced in September.

Former Dallas Cowboys star Bill Bates, one of the building partners, said "It's a great way to give back to the people who have given so much to us."

SouthStar Communities donated the one-acre lot in The Sanctuary at Lake Ridge.

The home should be completed by the end of the year.

Smart crosswalk lights up for kids

The new in-roadway warning light enhanced crosswalk system included in the improvements on E. Pleasant Run will increase safety by increasing visibility of the crosswalk and alerting motorists when it is occupied. Once activated by a pedestrian wishing to cross, the lights in the roadway and the adjacent sign flash toward approaching drivers.

Drivers should be aware of this crosswalk, slowing down upon approach and recognizing the right of way of pedestrians. Those crossing should always make sure traffic is stopped before entering the crosswalk.
